E-mail correspondence with a pet food company - 2006

Thats fine- unfortunately due to commitments both personally and with work , and also with trying to fit it in before end of term, we dont have many other options. Let`s hope for the best but I do understand if turn out is poor. Thanks for letting me know.

Subject Re: Nutrition Day

March 11th is fine but a number of fifth year have opted to go to Crufts that day. I am not sure at this moment how many that might take out , but it would be a maximum of 20 and probably less.

We've been able to clarify now and it appears we were deliberately switching the Nutrition day from the 4th to the 5 th year to more closely match their clinical rotations. So if we do 5th year this time, no-one will have missed any - so in effect we only need to do the one class this year (making it easier to fit in the lecture theatre) . Looking at their term curriculum , we were hoping to do it on the Saturday 11th March.
Would this be okay with you ?

Subject Re: Nutrition Day

Our largest lecture theatre can take about 100, so not quite two years worth. If they had to 'register' I dont think you would get a full turn out, so it probably can be done!

Thats great thanks- I actually met a Cambridge student at the AVS congress on Saturday (who was the AVS student rep for the 6 th year) and she came to me to say that they would like to have the day also - as they missed it last year - which is true- we just didnt get it together) So it might mean two years doing it together if we have enough room in the lecture theatre - would that be okay with you? She said that she would be quite happy to organise her year for it.

Subject Re: Nutrition Day

A saturday morning would be best for the Nutrition Day. I don't have the name of our Hills Student Rep, but presumably you have a record of their contact details. They certainly should be the one to contact for organising the event. I am naturally happy for the day to go ahead.

Hope things are going well with you.

I thought I would get in touch as things are starting to get quite busy here with organising student nutrition days across the universities. If you remember , we normally would have done this day for the 5th years on a Saturday with a day of nutrition lectures and give them lab coats and books and stuff.

Would it be okay to go ahead with this day this year? . We do have a student rep appointed at Cambridge , so they could help with the organising if you were happy with it?
